

CYLON TECHNOLOGY

CYLON EQUIPMENT

You have already learned about the Cylons, so this section just contains their hardware.

CYLON BASESTAR

The basestar is the primary battleship/carrier of the Cylon Empire. It has a crew of 1500, and it is believed to have labs aboard to create more as needed. It is a long range orbiting killer with two long range mega pulsars and over 100 laser turrets. They also carry landing craft and surface attack craft. Very little is known about basestars, but we do know that they contain a specially sealed and shielded chamber in the center of the Basestar called the central core. It is commanded by one or more I-L series Cylons. Communication relays link the chamber to all parts of the ship. In the event of severe damage to the outer hull, the chamber can be blasted free and travel up to 10 light yahren under its own power.

Basestars carry fighters, called raiders. it is not known how many, but we do know that they are designed primarily for ship attack. They have the same armorment as the viper, but they are not as fast or maneuverable. Also, they require 3 cylons to fly it: pilot, gunner, and commander. They always fly in groups of three which they combine into a wall of fighters called a phalanx formation. This makes your job much easier.

