

FORCE FIELD

A specially designed force field apparatus will create an invisible barrier to protect the space family from unknown dangers on their new planet. By swivelling the upper part of the unit the area to be secured will be scanned.

The unit is then activated by placing the six toggle switches on the control panel in the up position. Anything that approaches the field will now be repelled or disintegrated. Two tests to be sure that the field is operating are to throw a rock through the field or fire a laser gun at it.
