

The main viewport with its three computer decks in place.

This section of the ship contained food storage for the members of the Jupiter 2 when they arrived at the new world. The food containers held chocolate covered nuts and candy which the cast would eat during the run of the series!