

The suspended animation freezing tubes nearing completion for the pilot.

The suspended animation tubes of the Jupiter 2. They were intended to keep the members of the voyage frozen for five and a half years. It would terminate automatically as the space craft enters the atmosphere of the new planet in the Alpha Centauri star system.