

SET DESIGN

Shown here for the first time anywhere are the magnificent illustrations for Lost In Space.

Set design for Lost In Space presented many challenges — What does an alien computer look like, or a matter-transfer unit? Production Artist Roy Alexander worked with the Art Directors and with producer Irwin Allen to devise such things. Here we present a number of his original sketches which, after completion, went to the 20th Century Fox construction department to be transformed into futuristic wonders on the series.
